Swim Transition Instructor Clinic Now Live!

We are pleased to inform you that Red Cross Water Safety Instructors and Trainers are now able to transition to the Lifesaving Society's Swim for Life certification by completing the online self-directed Swim Transition Instructor Clinic at e-lifesaving.ca or e-sauvetage.ca.

This is the official Swim Transition Instructor Clinic approved by the Lifesaving Society Canada and endorsed by the Canadian Red Cross.

To register and complete the course you will need a credit card and approximately two hours. There is no charge for the clinic and no certification fee. However, as part of enrollment, candidates purchase the Lifesaving Society's Swim for Life Award Guide – the required reference for teaching Swim for Life programs. A digital version is included and available upon enrollment.

Completion of this online clinic is one of two required steps to becoming a certified Lifesaving Society Swim for Life Instructor. The other step is to ensure the Lifesaving Society has your Canadian Red Cross Water Safety qualifications. If you have not already done so, log in to your My Red Cross account or contact Red Cross directly to initiate this transfer. Once both steps have been completed, your Swim for Life Instructor certification will be visible in Find-a-Member within 3 to 4 weeks.

Welcome to Swim for Life!

This transition path ends December 31, 2022.

If you have any questions about the procedures, please contact Member Services at awards@lifesaving.bc.ca or call 604-299-5450.
