

Application for Issuing First Aid Certification to First Aid Attendants outside B.C.

Instructions

If you hold a valid first aid certificate from another province's health and safety regulator, you can be issued a certificate recognized by WorkSafeBC. Along with this form, you must also review the Jurisprudence package for other jurisdictions.

Please complete this registration form, print and sign, and submit to an approved training provider. When you register, you will also need government-issued photo ID and the first aid certificate you earned outside B.C.

Terms and conditions of certification

The attendant must:

- (a) Follow the principles of first aid treatment as outlined in WorkSafeBC’s first aid training programs that are provided to the attendant when they participate in the training program
- (b) Comply with the Occupational Health and Safety Regulation, and the other responsibilities of attendants in this standard
- (c) Comply with any other terms and conditions provided to the attendant by the training agency when granted certification, or provided to the attendant by the WorkSafeBC at any other time.

Including:

The first aid certificate holder must not engage in inappropriate conduct, not restricted to but including the following:

- Smoking while assessing or treating an injured or ill worker and/or while handling oxygen therapy equipment, or permitting others to do so
- Failure to use the assessment and injury treatment techniques outlined in first aid training courses unless conditions precluded them
- Conduct that poses an unreasonable threat to the safety and well-being of other workers or the public
- Removing themselves from being able to see or hear any summons for first aid at a workplace
- Abandoning an injured worker after beginning assessment or treatment
- Refusing to treat an injured worker when acting as the designated first aid attendant
- Treating or transporting an injured worker while impaired or under the influence of drugs or alcohol
